Type: Professional Service

ID: 3771

Revised: 2020-Dec-11

Health Catalyst's Value-based Care Strategy Deployment service uses a proven, data-driven methodology to guide the execution of your organization's population health management strategy. Whatever the extent of your current value-based care efforts and ambitions, our experts can tailor an implementation plan and operational model that is grounded in your current realities and aligned with your overall strategy and vision.

Intended Users

- Chief Financial Officer
- VP of Population Health Management
- Chief Information Officer
- Chief Clinical and Nursing Officers

Our team

Our team is a diverse group of professionals—clinicians, financial analysts, and analytics and operational experts—steeped in the realities of value-based care and committed to ensuring that our client partners succeed in changing healthcare for the better.

The problem

Population health management is cross-cutting work that must be carried out in a coordinated way. Unfortunately, many organizations struggle to bring together stakeholders from relevant domains—clinical, financial, and operational—to develop and execute plans for short- and long-term success in value-based care. Data and analytics are critical resources for effective strategies, but they aren't sufficient; organizations need appropriate guidance, governance, and methods for ensuring alignment and driving effective change.

Our approach

Our team of experts provides specialized support to help your organization integrate long-term strategic priorities and yearly initiatives, ensure solid stakeholder accountability, and establish performance monitoring processes that drive measurable results and support your organization's success in value-based care.

Benefits and features

Bringing broad experience and extensive healthcare-operations savvy, our team partners with leadership to help your organization balance risks, capitalize on meaningful opportunities, and address the complexity of value-based care efforts across the continuum. Strategy deployment engagements are characterized by:

- Disciplined, data-informed, flexible approach. Our method of planning and managing progress toward value-based care success is both systematic and flexible—applicable to organizations with a strategic plan as well as those wanting to define it.
- Holistic perspective with clear and measurable targets. Our team takes a comprehensive account of key success factors and translates this complexity into a series of near- and long-term actions and accountabilities for your organization.
- Roadmap and in-the-trenches support. We partner with you to define and operationalize a clear plan that maximizes the strategic value of your data, considers culture, improves governance, and ensures implementation feasibility.
